Overview of WAEJUC

- Western Australia and East Java University Consortium (WAEJUC) roots in the sister-city agreement between Western Australia and East Java.
- There are 2 focuses of the consortium, which are research and mobility

Members

Five Western Australian Universities (WAUs)

- UWA, Curtin University, Murdoch University, Edith Cowan University, University of Notre Dame

Ten Public East Java universities (EJUs)

- ITS, UNAIR, UNESA, UPNVJT, UNIJOYO, UNEJ, UINSA, UM, UB, UINMMI

West Australia and East Java – Sister States

- In 2017, under a 25-year sister state agreement, the University Consortium was officially launched.
- The Consortium aligns to leverage off the combined strength and resources of the universities.
- The co-chair for mobility at EJ side is Dr. Maria Anityasari (ITS), while the co-chair at WA side is Dr. Thor Kerr (Curtin University).
- Student mobility has been active since 2019 till now.
- The WA universities mobility teams are collegiate and have a staunch commitment to ensuring the ongoing success of the mobility programs.

Jack Gibellini, Notre Dame University
It was great to be able to give outside point of view about tourism as it had movement and new tourists. It is also great to hear what other places are doing to boost their tourism.

Anindya Hana Norany, University of Airlangga
I can learn more practical way about the complexity of how the government work in Indonesia. Especially how they handle their projects. It gives me different and broad perspectives on how tourism and city management is being initiated. The program enhances it by way different and you get to be a more critical. The program enhances the role of participant and a citizen to be able to give the government some insight and little advice on how to make their tourism and their work a better tourism.

Megan Reagon, Murdoch University
The best thing for me was being able to plant mangroves and to have a family and experience being used of conservation in a foreign country. It was a wonderful experience seeing the mangroves and contributing to the program, communication and

East Java Exploration (EJx): A Unique Student Mobility Experiences

- The two-week multi-sited mobility program, East Java Exploration (EJx), offers a combination of academic and cultural experience.
- Collectively hosted by EJUs, it aims at enhancing the mutual understanding of contexts, opportunities, and challenges in two neighboring countries.
- During the program, the WAUs' participants were buddied-up with EJU students to learn, collaborate and travel between four cities where EJUs are located: Surabaya, Malang, Jember, and Madura.

East Java Exploration (EJx): A Unique Student Mobility Experiences

- Preparation: rotating principal host, involvement of both sides through regular meetings
- Obstacles: subtopic alignments, individual host preparedness, participant recruitment
- Innovations: collective leadership, support and reflection, widening the scope of participant recruitment, flexible scheduling, interdisciplinary approach,

EJX Success Story:

What do you think about Indonesia before and after you come here?

Before

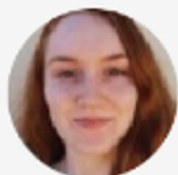

- I thought it was going to be similar to Bali since that is all I was exposed to before coming to East Java.
- I thought all parts of East Java have the same culture
- I thought that the universities wouldn't be as large
- I think Indonesia is dominance with patriarchal ideas
- I thought it was empty but yes, it is sure NOT EMPTY at all, even at the small city

After

- So many tourism resources in East Java
- It is very different to Bali. Within East Java it is extremely diverse with many different cultures, none the same as the other.
- It is a very friendly place and welcoming. The universities are also very nice. Sometimes too many photos...
- Many cultures, many foods, many dances. I think we are ready to perform dancing and gamelan haha
- It's amazing to know something you wouldn't expect

"I really enjoyed all of the Elx sessions and I have learned so many things. Every topic was full of interesting thoughts about East Java and also Indonesia in general. The insightful speakers were so kind and intuitive to any questions that we might have. I was able to expand my social network and gain new friends from different countries. Thank you so much Ejx 2020"

EAST JAVA EXPLORATION (EJX)

Program Overview

How much do you know about Indonesia? Have you been to East Java? Join us exploring four regions of Java's eastern province – Surabaya, the capital city of the province; Madura, popularly known as the Salt Island; Jember, the tobacco city; and Malang, the city with mildest climate in the region. Experience and learn a glimpse of Indonesia's diversity: religion, culture, history, technology, and natural resources, through a two-week education safari hosted by ten major public universities in the province.

East Java Exploration (EJx) is designed as a general course with a multidisciplinary approach for participants to explore East Java by addressing several goals of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in the area of economics, social and environmental issues such as education, poverty, gender equality, climate change, water conservation, sustainable cities and communities. Participants will obtain a deeper understanding of East Java through cultural tours, a series of lectures, discussions, and face-to-face interactions with individuals from all backgrounds. They will also build friendships and network for the future.

Building Resilient Communities and Promoting Interreligious Harmony in Java

Overview

Institut Teknologi Sepuluh Nopember (ITS) Surabaya has been consistently maintaining commitment to develop science and technology with social and cultural approaches. Among thousands of islands, the Java island provides an attraction for continuing to be explored for its rich culture and local traditions.

This year, CommTECH Nusantara program delves into the diverse religious tapestry of Java, highlighting the challenges faced by interfaith communities and emphasizing the religious traits essential for coexistence. The focus includes initiatives like interfaith dialogue, educational programs, showcasing successful case studies. The exploration also includes discussing innovative approaches and the role of youth in sustaining efforts for a more resilient society, offering a comprehensive overview of the region's religious landscape, strategies, and future prospects.

Program Fee
