About Millpond

A 'millpond' is a pond that powers a mill. A calm body of water that provides the energy to drive the mill's wheel and therefore its' operations.

At Millpond we want to create the same dynamic in your business. By creating calm across your projects, no matter the breadth and complexity, we help create the momentum you need to move your organisation forward.

By providing a full range of project management services and training, we can enhance your project management skills and capabilities to help you achieve your envisaged business outcomes.

The Millpond Way

Some of Australasia's largest and most successful organisations engage Millpond because we offer a unique mix of capabilities, we summarise as our 'four Ps':

1. A strong team of proven and capable project management professionals
2. A process-based approach that means we apply the right methodologies to fit your specific needs
3. People with the ability to integrate into your business quickly and painlessly
4. A personalised approach to everything we do, from training programmes to the management of projects.

In the stressful and sometimes chaotic mix of projects any complex organisation is running, Millpond's promise is creating calm. The calmness of the Millpond, creating the power and energy required to get your organisation moving.
